FIND ARMS AND AMMUNITION

Government Officials Admit That They Have Received Advices.

(By Associated Press.)

HAVANA, November 20.-Evidence obtained by the commission which is investigating the discovery by the secret polico Saturday last of a considerable quantity of arms, ammunition and accoutrements in a house in the Cerro suburb is tending to implicate a few men of some prominence. The government has no doubt that the materials came from the United States, and it is seeking lo learn who were the purchasers.

Government officials now admit that they have received various secret advices regarding contemplated uprisings before election day in various parts of the island, particularly in the provinces of Bantiago, Sania Clara and Pinar dol Rio, with a probable attack on the palace in Havana. The object of the latter, according to the officials, appears to be the removal, possibly by assusanction.

Havina. The object of the latter, according to the officials, appears to be the removal, possibly by assassination, of President Palma. The plotters, it is pointed out, are well aware, since there is now no vice-president, that the election of President Palma's successor would, according to the constitution, be in the hands of congress, and that the liberals, with the help of a free independents, could control both houses.

The government has not revealed its information as to the extent of those plots, but special measures have been taken for guarding the palace. The facts that the president and his family are remaining at home, and that troops are being sent to the points where, according to reports, the plotting originated, are considered significant. So far as known, however, these plots are not generally backed by any large party, and, whether they are widespread or otherwise, the active watchfulness against any form of uprising, is believed to have squeiched any ambitions of the plotters.

Pastor Wagner's Impressions of Roosevelt.

Roosevelt.

Where public spirit is concerned, nothing that might contribute to the strengthening of mutual good-will and the cohesion of the country's citizens, finds President Roosevelt indifferent. Endowed with a mind of rare penetration, to which every sort of mental finesse is familiar, his chief interest is nevertheless in practical ideas, ideas that are to the mental and spiritual life of the people at large what bread is to the life of the body. He is fond of repailing the thought that what is necessary to the health and strength of a people, is much less the existence among them of a few isolated characters of people, is much less the existence among them of a few isolated characters of extraordinary greatness, than a good general mean of public spirit. Backbone and energy, a sense of social responsibility, a deacrmination from the beginning to march straight ahead without-permitting one's self to be turned to right or left—this is what he appreciates most highly in a man; and he would have him add to it that broad-minded attitude toward others which betrays itself in forbearing to exercise all one's own rights, out of consideration for one's neighbor.

His greeting is genial and direct; not a sign, even the slightest, of the grand personage. You feel that he is a man who would find himself at home with all classes, the peer of the highest, the brother of the humblest.

The income from other sources (that is, from rents, interest on investments, etc.) was $2,822.27 less than last year, due largely to the fact that, during the year, all the investment securities of the company were sold, and the interest upon them for a portion of the year only were received by the company. The interest on funded debt was $90,468.98 more than tast year, owing to the fact that full interest on the new 31-2 per cent. bonds (was not payable during the year ending June 30th, 1994. Dr. M. Ashby Jones and others spok or. M. Temperance.

The report on Temperance was taken Temperance.

Temperance was taken up out of order and quickly disposed of, after very brief talks by several of the members. The report, which is given in part below, recognizes the Anti-Salom League as the present great agency for carrying out temperance reform, and Dr. Pilcher offered as an amendment to the recognize recommending that paper effort. report recommending that proper effort be made to have the Legislature to amend be made to have the Legislature to amend present laws so as to bring distilleries under the operation of the Mann law; to amend the law as to social clubs; to provide that saloons in cities be held to hours from 6 A. M. to 10 P. M.; that the present laws be changed so that imprisonment shall be the punishment for violation of liquor license laws, and that a law be enacted making the possession of a United States tax receipt for the sale of liquor be regarded as prima facile evidence of the sale of spirits by the by the choir of the church. There were hours from § A. M. to 19. M.; that the present laws be changed so that the present laws be changed so that imprisonment shall be the punishment for violation of liquor license laws, and that a law be enacted making the possession of a United States tax receipt for the sale of liquor be regarded as prima facic evidence of the sale of spirits by the holder of such receipts.

The report on temperance was in part as loflows:

At the last meeting of this body your committee indicated that the temperance movement in this country was practically one of evolution; it begin with moral suasion, or work upon the individual for total abstinence, and almost simultaneously upon the liquor dealer to cause the sale of that which was injurious to his fellow-men; then there forlowed the more general movement of a legal complexion which became more and more pronounced with the passing days. Now public sentiment is crystal lzing into the form of more stringent laws governing the sale of intoxicating liquors. This legislation is not confined to any one portion of our union, but almost every State and Territory has felt its influence. An article by Mr. Herbert N. Casson, in the August number of Munsey's Magazine, entitled the Story of Temperance," shows that Maine, Kansas and North Dakota are under prohibition, and 400 counties have thrown off the legalized liquor yoke.

One writer states that out of twentyprohibition, and do counties have thrown off the legalized liquor yoke.

One writer states that out of twenty-seven million people in the South, seventien million are under prohibition. In our own State there has been wonderful progress; in 1901, 1,895 salcons were reported; now there are only about 975. Seven hundred and sixty-seven of these were closed in two years in the rural districts by the Mann law. From the best information obtainable seventy-four out of the one hundred counties are without licensed salcons. Aside from the counties contiguous to the cities there are only about thirteen affected by salcons. Special attention might well be called to the magnificent work of the Good Templars and the Anti-Salcon League in closing the remaining sixteen bar-rooms in Alexandria county.

League in closing the remaining sixteen bar-rooms in Alexandria county.

Legislation.

While the Mann law has been wonderfully instrumental in closing saloons in the rural districts, it is guite certain that some effort will be made by the liquor interests of the State to nullify it as much as possible. Temperance people, therefore, should be exceedingly alert during the session of the Legislature, in order to provent any possible emasculation of this most desirable law. The blind tiger laws of the State are not as stringent nor effective as they should be. Fines alone are usually imposed, though there has been more of imprisonment in some sections than a year ago, and we should have a law making the fall sentence mandatory and not optional as is now the case. Distilleries should be placed under the operation of the Mann law, and be required to prove proper police protection, etc. Saloons should be closed earlier and opened later: many of them, however, keep open all night. They should be divested also of obseene pletures, where found. Only one entrance should be permitted, nor should there be sereons or other obstructions to public view. A report embodying such legislation as this was adopted at the

A Forward Movement.

A Forward Movement.

The work of temperance reform has been chiefly confined to the rural districts; now a vigorous campaign in the cities, the last intrenchments if the liquor forces, is being planned. Nearly all the remaining $75 saloons are in the cities, and it is the purpose of the league to go after them. To this end the services of Dr. G. W. Young, assistant national superintendent, will be secured for three months of next year. Accompanied by the field secretary, and as far as practicable by the office secretary and other workers, Dr. Young will enter the cities of Virginia. Instead of holding one or two meetings, as formerly done, various sections of towns and cities will feel the impulse of agitation at the same cities of Virginia. Instead of holding one or two meetings, as formerly done, various sections of towns and cities will feel the impulse of agitation at the same time, and for as many days as may be deemed best in each place, thus, as it were, storming the very fortresses of the cnemy. Dr. Young's campaign is to be followed by the employment of a State superintendent to take charge of the work in general, but to give special stention to the larger towns, and cities. Much enthussasm has already been evoked by the publicity so far given to this plan, and your committee is pleased to report that the prospect of the next year's temperance work is the brightest Virginia has ever seen. And thus it should be, for Virginia occupies a somewhat strategic position in relation to should he, for Virginia occupies a some-what strategic position in relation to temperance reform, and Virginians should stand firm and press forward without hesitation to make the undertaking the greatest possible success. West Virginia has made greater legal advance than this State in some respects, and thirty-two out of fity-five counties have no saloons; Kentucky has eighty-two out of 119 coun-ties under local outlon: Tennessee has ties under local option; Tennessee has only a few cities in which liquor is legally sold, with a prospect of almost total prohibition after the next session of the egislature; North Carolina is strongly advancing lowards a prohibitory consti-tutional amendment.

The Seminary.

At 10:30 the order of the day was con-sideration of the Southern Baptist Theo-logical Seminary, Rev. Dr. J. William Jones, president of the Virginia Alumni Ar sociation, offered the following: "Resolved, That we cordially commend the Bouthern Baptist Theological Seminary to the sympathies, contributions and prayers of our brethren, and we urge prayers of our brethrea, and we urge our young ministers to attend this 'school of the proplicts,'

'The Doctor made a short, carnest talk and was followed by Rev. Ryland Knight, the secretary of the Virginia Alumni. Rev. Dr. J. R. Sampey, of the Seminary, was then introduced, and his simple story of the workings of the Seminary and his carnest appeal for a greater interest in ministerial charge. a greater interest in ministerial educa-tion, and for more young men to enter the ministry thrilled the large audience.

Woman's Union.

Rev. W. S. Leake read the lengthy report of the Woman's Missionary Union. The report shows that the Woman's Missionary Societies in the Baptist churches of the State raised and paid over to the beards during the past church year the sum of $3,801.68, an increase over the provious year of 5,682.81 year the sum of $30,301.05, an increase over the provious year of $6,462.00. It further shows that their work is growing year by year, and has now become a great factor in Baptlat church work. President William Ellyson took the floor and made a strong speech in commendation of the work of the women, and was followed by Rov. F. P. Robertson. There were others who wanted to speak on the wonderful work done and being done by the women, but the stingy men who arranged the programme had allotted but limited time for this subject, and they would not extend it.

The night and cloping session of the association was devoted entirely to addresses by the Virginia delegates to the World's Baptist Conquest held last sum-
